Jack Wolfskin's new Wanderlust apparel, footwear and accessory collection for men and women, available this spring, embodies the traveler's spirit with contemporary yet practical designs.

The multi-functional travel collection is characterized by a timeless, nature-inspired look that is paired with premium quality fabrics and comfort-enhancing innovations. The soft, elegant designs include brrr° cooling technology that harnesses the effect of minerals to create a triple chill effect through cooling, actively transporting moisture and drying fast; and Microban® technology, a bluesign® approved odour capture solution that delivers long-lasting freshness and proves to be beneficial for traveling and for the environment.

The lightweight, detail-oriented styles in the Wanderlust series feature superior ventilation options, provide high UV protection, and may be layered in a variety of ways. From head to toe, from clothing to backpacks, Jack Wolfskin abundantly employs recycled materials as well as natural fibres such as bamboo throughout the collection.
